

the pin at the left would be a hinge to allow for rotation about the z -axis
 the right pins connected to the actuator on the furthest right to allow it the easiest ability to offset the moment by the height on the bar Use: ~~B~~ RSX LA b/c it has the largest max force

Collaboration Statement: I did this one alone basically.